FLEE TOWARD TOLEDO

Official Rushes After Trio and Threats: Truck Driver Chases Them

GREEN, Jan. 15.— Stony Ridge, Jan. 15.— A man, cashier of the Farmington bank at Stony Ridge, 12 miles west of here, was seriously wounded in a battle with three bandits who held up and robbed the bank shortly before noon.

The men made their get-away in a car and headed for Toledo.
The cashier, who was one of the bank's best men, was shot in the back of the head and one of the bandits shot at the cashier.

WOMAN ADMITS AND DENIES IDENTITY

Held as Mrs. Irene Schroeder While Pictures Are Rushed to Phoenix, Ariz.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 16.—Held in the county jail following their capture after a hot gun fight, a woman who is believed to be Irene Schroeder, and two male companions today awaited identification by a Pennsylvania officer who is enroute here by airplane.

Mrs. Schroeder and one of her companions, Clem Dugan, were sought in connection with the slaying of Corrado Paul, a member of the Pennsylvania State constabulary, near Butler, Pa.

The third member of the trio, who claims to be Joe E. Wells, denied that he was J. W. Crawford, Mrs.
Schroeder's brother, also sought in connection with the killing of the officer.

The woman claims that Wells was picked up by herself and Dugan while traveling through Texas.

HEALTH BOARD APPOINTS LIST OF EMPLOYEES

Terms of Weiser and Tobin Run to April 1; Others for Year

SALARIES UNCHANGED

Brief Periods for Two Officials Due to Proposed Union of Health Districts

The city of Marion was assured the services of a health commissioner and sanitary policeman until April 1 last night when the board of health held a special meeting and named its 1930 employees.

Dr. W. J. Weiser, health commissioner, and C. M. Tobin, sanitary policeman, were hired until April 1. All other employees of the department, including Dr. J. T. Gruber, inspector of meat and milk, Miss Mary Ellen Keer, secretary, and Miss Mabel Hastings, city nurse, were reemployed at their former salaries.

Brief Terms Explained
The reason given by the board of health for employing two of its officials only until April 1 is the pending movement to unite the city and county health districts, according to board members. A movement to combine the two districts, placing the entire county and city under one commission, has been discussed here for several weeks.

In addition to the applications of the present employees, applications for the position of sanitary policeman were read from Addison Bain, F. W.
Huberman, and Charles C. Eyer.

Proceedings Delayed
At a former meeting of the board of health on Jan. 6, the hiring of 1930 employees was delayed when Dr. S.
W. Mattox, member of the board, made a motion to retire the entire consolidated board consisting of C.
M. Tobin, sanitary policeman. This motion, which left Tobin off the list of employees, received no second, and brought about argument which ended the meeting without any official being employed.

At that time it was agreed that no employees would be named until city council had passed its annual appropriation ordinance on Jan. 13. The appropriation ordinance of city council made provision for all salaries of health department employees.

CHARGES AIRD BY COMMITTEE

Charges Hopkins Morally Responsible for City Hall Scandal

CLEVELAND, Jan. 15.—The first of the much-heralded "charges" against William H. Hopkins, deputy city manager, pending his public hearing on the matter, were made public by the special council committee of five today.

Forty-four bootleggers and 337 customers were arrested here during the year, according to the annual report of the police department, just filed in the city clerk's office by W. H. Strayer, retiring director of public safety.

These figures possibly do not represent all the bootleggers and all the customers of the city, so deductions from them are somewhat theoretical.

Some of the 337 customers appear on the list two and even three times during the year, as police arrested them at different times for intoxication. Some of them paid $5 a quart for their "stuff," while others who were not so "thrifty" paid 25 cents for three ounces of rum, brandy, or other "juicy" liquors, and proceeded to make merry. No less than half a dozen of the latter suffered from "sickness" or delirium tremens as a result.

The 337 "drunks" arrested during the year represent a little more than 25 per cent of all arrests, according to police records.

Court Fight Expected as Re-

Disappearance

Action to declare forfeited the bond of Alfred Lawrence, charged in probate court with illegal possession of liquor, will probably be started by court officials and prosecuting Attorney Alfred Donahue within a few days, it was stated today.

Mrs. Dan Trier of Prospect town-the bond was $500.

Lawrence was to have appeared in probate court Jan. 10, but did not appear. He failed to appear, and it is said the bondsmen are waiting for him from the Marion-Marysville region for several weeks.

made last November by state probacontain a mixture of water and whisky were found in the Lawrence home, according to the officers.

It is the picture of the real revolution, not the 1917 Lenin revolution, but a deeper, stronger, vast, more important revolution.

Nothing in Return

In 1917 the 125,000,000 peasants took the land and divided it up among themselves. With their ageless fam-hunger satisfied they felt that they were on the verge of a new life. But it did not come. No new rewards were theirs—no better homes, schools, dresses, shoes, plows, machinery—no better life. The "dark" villages, a million of them scattered over the vast reaches of mighty Russia, remained dark villages—only by new hope new ideas, education, better equipment, electricity.

They belonged to the past. They plowed and planted and reaped as their grandfathers had done a century before. The cities had fallen them. The cities took their wheat and their sons and gave them nothing in return but words.

Then out from the golden domes Kremlin to far away Moscow—out from the hated cities—out from America—came the idea. It blew like strong winds that bound and sing their way across the great prairies.

New Promises Made
"Machinery will do it," came the promise. Co-operation—bring in the tractors and modern machinery. In-dustrialize the land, and comfort and a decent life will be yours.

These were the new promises, and the high hopes that were kindled over the Soviet land.

The state church, beautiful but inadequate, was pounded and propa-gandized and taxed out of business, and in its place came the new god of machinery. And the old sacred flock in the corner of the living room was replaced by a poster of an American tractor.

For five years now they have been building up this machine god, valuation is promised—salvation from the hopeless, backward, ignorant past and from the hard, cruel and bitter present.

Tractor Great Symbol
It is impossible to overestimate what the tractor alone means to these hundred million peasants. It has captured their whole imagination. It is the symbol of all machinery—and machinery is their new god.

"The tractor will give us freedom," a bearded old peasant in the south of Russia said to me. "We will work hard and the tractor will plow better than we can do with horses. Machinery will free us peasants," and then with a twinkle in his wise old eyes he added, "We don't have to feed the tractors in the winter time when they are not working."

Another shrewd old peasant in an adjoining village said to me: "We don't belong to the collective now, but we will pretty soon. We've seen tractors. They can plow better than we can. They'll make up all their some day."

That Way Over All Russia
So it goes all over Great Russia.
In every village are a little group of young men who have been in the Red army or worked in the cities and have been set free with the idea of collective ownership and modern machinery. They are the leaders that slowly is awakening the Red consciousness of these, countless millions. They have given the initial momentum to the great mass movement that is sweeping over Soviet land, stripping all opposition, breaking down all barriers, spreading the new revolution.

In many ways it is not a pretty picture. At least one million of the most intelligent farmers, the most intellectual, the ablest and most accomplished, are being ruthlessly and continuously crushed to death. With the failure of the drive to supply goods and comforts to the villages in return for their grain the Russian peasant individually went on the greatest strike in all history. He simply refused to grow any more grain than he needed for himself.
What was the use of a sack full of grain when you couldn't buy anything with it?

New Economic Policy And so it was that the great war between the cities and the country was fought out in 1920 and 1921. The peasant won and Lenin brought in his new economic policy that permitted private trading and the more intelligent and shrewder peasant to again become a minor capitalist. He could again employ labor and loan money.
He was dubbed "Eulak"—the fat.

Of course the more he prospered the more he was despised. With Lenin's death Trotsky wanted to crush him at once. Over this point, Trotsky—to many the natural heir to the imperial purple of the great Lenin—and Stalin quarreled. In the end Trotsky was exiled from Soviet Russia—and then adopted Trotsky's theory of crushing the hated Eulaks—but added to it this tremendous and startling dream of indus-trializing the backward Russian land and making it a part and parcel of the whole audacious five year industrialization plan that is to make or break the Soviets.

Now Oppressed
Today this good farmer—this hard-worked individualistic man of the soil is being super-saturated out of his property, his horses and cattle and equipment, and he is being made poorer than the most indolent, most stupid peasant in all Russia. He is disfranchised, all privileges are taken from him, he is stripped of his goods and wealth, his children exiled from schools and he himself refused the right to go into the collective and co-operatives that are to replace all individual farming.

Naturally, he fights back. He burns and destroys and kills—and then he is tried before a red peoples' court, and taken out and shot.

It is a cruelly difficult to understand this stamping out of all that is most capable among the peasantry.
"You see, we must crush this rich and powerful peasant or he will crush us," one of the leaders of the national collective movement explained to me. "If we let him live our collective, even after we have stripped him of his property he will dominate the collective. He is shrewd-er today than the poorer peasant. We must destroy him just as we destroyed the aristocracy and bourgeoisie of the cities. Once he is eliminated we can march ahead with our great dream of mechanizing the country life, and in the end of making a new and free citizen of the world from this dark, illiterate peasant of today."

(Editor's Note: In tomorrow's article Mr. Hunt tells of the plans for establishing "tractor centers" throughout the agricultural sections of Russia, and of eventually making these "tractor centers" the educational, social, manufacturing and government centers for the communities in which they are located. The "tractor center" is the crux of the whole "five-year plan.")

Even one little taste of defeat is hard to swallow.

47 Years' Practice Taught Dr. Caldwell

Many things about Men and Women

DR. CALDWELL loved people.
He studied the habits of his patients and tried to improve their ways of living. His observations over a long period of time convinced him many people were ruining their health by a careless choice of laxatives. Then he determined to write a prescription which would get at the cause of constipation and correct it quickly and safely.

How successful his efforts were is best shown by the fact that the prescription he wrote back in 1885 has become the world's most popular laxative! He prescribed a mixture of herbs and other pure ingredients now known as Dr.
Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, in thousands of cases where bad breath, coated tongue, gas, headaches, biliousness, and lack of appetite, or energy showed him that the bowels

145 STOLEN AUTOS RECOVERED IN YEAR

Machines Found by Local Police Valued at $76,169.
Report Shows

Police recovered 145 stolen automobiles in Marion during 1929, three more than were stolen here during the year, according to figures included in the annual report of this department which has just been filed. The additional cars recovered were stolen in other cities and found in Marion.
The 145 automobiles recovered represented property value of $76,169 according to official estimate. Other merchandise recovered was valued at $5,947.

A total of 1,233 persons were arrested during the year by police.

Trade count summaries were issued to 1929, and 1,527 persons were given night detentions in prison. Ninety searches were made by police, and 2,131 meals were served prisoners.

Don't neglect a COLD

DRIVING cold in chest or throat that so often leads to bronchitis—generally responds to Mucilage with the first application. Should be more effective if used every hour for five hours.
Like the trained hands of a doctor, this famous blend of oil of peppermint, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. It soothes and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 30 years.
Recommended by doctors and nurses.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN N. Y. APARTMENT

Fast Life Is Blamed for Death: Officials To Perform Autopsy

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A woman, Mrs. Harriet Moore Adler, 33, once of Park ave. and the exclusive East Seventy, lay quiet in the city morgue today.

She had thrown life into high gear—and something slipped.

In silk and satin she was found dead, sprawled on a couch in the apartment of Dudley Murphy, young motion picture director.

An autopsy will be performed later today to determine if alcoholism, heart failure or something else caused her death.

The imprint of a valuable pearl necklace tightly woven around her neck left its mark upon her throat. At first it was believed she had strangled the society matron.

Murphy, 28, and Barbara, who was staying with him in the bachelor apartment in East Forty-first st., where Mrs. Adler was found, were questioned by police. They denied any responsibility for the tragedy and were released.

Mrs. Adler telephoned early in the morning, Barbara said. He told her Murphy had not come home to rest.

"Call your bedding. Dudley," she replied to Barbara. "In coming over."

She did and when Murphy came home she was there, apparently intoxicated.

Mrs. Adler declined to leave the two men said. She lay on the couch and refused to get up. When she was found, she was in the position in which she was found, they said, until the police arrived.

The husband of the dead woman is Hamilton Adler, wealthy bond broker, who lives on Park ave. He is said to be in Honolulu on a vacation. The couple have a three-year-old child.

LEVEES BREAK

Livestock Killed, Farmers Driven from Homes by Water

VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 15.—Considerable livestock was swept to doom by the second disastrous levee break in this flood-stricken vicinity, a checkup revealed today.

The levee broke, holding back the striding river Duane, that was swollen with back waters from the flooded White River, broke last night two miles north of Decker and about 12 miles south of here.

Through a gap more than 200 feet wide today, the murky torrent poured out and covered more than 25,000 additional acres of land. Another 100 farmers, it was estimated, were driven from their homes, but no lives were lost.

Despite this levee break the White river at Decker continued to rise today and had reached a stage of 28 feet this morning as compared with the record 1913 mark of 28.5.

HELD AS DESERTERS

DEFEAT, N. Y., Jan. 15.—Three members of the coast guard were held today by police on charges of desertion. The alleged deserters are Spencer H. Stevens, 21, of Lorain, Ohio; William A. Sanborn, 21, of Fairport Harbor, Ohio; and Frank J. Walters of Millersburg, Mich.

TEACHER ACCUSED

Charged with Assault and Battery for Allegedly Whipping Child

GEORGETOWN, Jan. 15.—A teacher at the Gilbert school in Brown county, today faced an indictment as a charge of assault and battery.

Decker was indicted late yesterday by the county grand jury following charges by John Galt, farmer, that the teacher had whipped a 15-year-old daughter, Clara, because she closed a book too hard.

The alleged whipping was administered Monday. Brown received a whipping from the girl's father Tuesday.

Brown pleaded not guilty to the charge and was placed under $200 bond. No charge was filed against Galt.

Mrs. Ida Bell Cahill Dies Suddenly at Home Near Byhalia

BYHALIA, Jan. 15.—Mrs. Ida Bell Cahill, wife of Hugh Cahill, died early this morning at her home two miles west of Byhalia, of diabetes. Although she had been in failing health for the last two years her death came suddenly.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Byhalia M. E. church, Reverend E. J. H. H. officiating. Interment will be made in the cemetery at Byhalia.

Mrs. Cahill was born Apr. 11, 1863, in Franklin county, the daughter of Lewis and Mary Mitchell Baker. Her marriage to Mr. Cahill took place in 1884. Mrs. Cahill was a member of the Byhalia M. E. church.

Surviving with the husband are the following brothers and sisters: Howard Baker, Leosdab, Mich.; Albert Baker, Richmond, Miss. Ella Baker, Mrs. William Turner, Mrs. Jacob Temple, Andrew Baker and Earl Baker, of Byhalia.

Two nieces survive. Mrs. Rose Harrison, of Fayette, a cousin, and Clifford, Edwin and Estelle Moe, of Wisconsin, are also cousins who survive. Carl Cantwick, a grand nephew of St. Louis, and a brother-in-law, Silas Blosser, of this city, are surviving.

CITE MISCONDUCT

Jurors Accused of Having Admitted Prejudice in Case

BYHALIA, Jan. 15.—Charges of misconduct were on file here today against three members of the jury which recently tried and convicted William May, Loring, of manslaughter. The charges were contained in an amended motion for a new trial in common pleas court filed by counsel for May.

May was convicted of having been the driver of an automobile which struck and killed William Clark, Loring, last Oct. 21.

Two of the jurors in the case, Mrs. Isabelle Gendner and Charles Uepp, both of Loring, are charged in the amended motion for a new trial with having admitted prejudice in the case.

A third juror, Mrs. Frank Noyes, of Loring, was charged with having failed to notify the court that she had been threatened with violence if the jury did not find May guilty.

INJURIES FATAL TO GIRL

SALAM, Jan. 15.—Egda Ann Shooley, 10, died here today of injuries received last night when she was struck by a truck after she had alighted from a school bus. The child, after alighting from the bus, crossed the road in front of her home to a small box. As she attempted to recross the highway, she was run down. No charges were placed against the driver of the truck.

GALION BANKER CLAIMED BY DEATH

Albe Moe, 89, Prominent in City and County Politics, Succumbs

GALION, Jan. 15.—Funeral services for Albe Moe, 89, prominent Galion resident and president of the Home Savings & Loan Co., will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home, 127 North Columbus st.

Interment will be made in Fairview cemetery. Mr. Moe died Tuesday night at his home, following a six days' illness of acute heart trouble and complications.

Mr. Moe was born at French Creek, Lorain county, May 22, 1846, the son of Hiram and Hannah Moe. In May, 1861, he entered the Union army where he served in the engineering department. After the war he came to Galion where he entered the restaurant business and later dealt in the real estate and insurance business. He served in the city council in 1885-86, and in 1890 was appointed city engineer. In 1892 he was elected mayor of Galion and in 1901 he was elected county commissioner of Crawford county which office he served for six years. In 1909 he was made a member of the city board of review and he became one of the organizers of the Home Savings & Loan company in which he served as a director for 11 years, as vice president and for several years as president of the board of directors.

When Mr. Moe came to Galion he married Miss Sadie Blosser, of Crawford county, and to this union a son, Ralph, was born who died in early life. Mrs. Moe died 16 years ago.

MAY OUST BERRY

Alpert Head Listed for As an Hopkins Is Fined

CLEVELAND, Jan. 15.—Police first Maj. John Berry, superintendent of the Cleveland airport, may be ousted as after the removal of William H. Hopkins as Cleveland city manager, today started a current of speculation as to his possible successor.

Alpert Bushman, city hall clerk and chief of the refunding craft for Byron K. Newcomb and Roy T. Mitchell in their endurance flight last summer, was mentioned as a likely candidate.

Berry, who is recognized as an authority on airplane problems, was Hopkins' choice as superintendent of the airport here. With Hopkins ousted from office, according to some rumors, Berry will be dismissed and a new superintendent chosen.

BOMB WRECKS FLAT

OF POLITICAL CZAR

Occupants of Building Thrown into Panic; Ellers Escape Uninjured

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—A powerful dynamite bomb, aimed at the home of City Collector Morris Ellers, wrecked the flat of the "bloody anarchist" ward, early today wrecked the rear of a three-story apartment building and threw occupants of the building into a panic.

The last, beretted Ellers and his wife and their maid from their beds. The Ellers escaped unharmed but the negro maid, Annie Semmel, was badly cut and bruised.

This, the second bomb aimed at Ellers in the last three years, wrecked the rear portion of the building, hurling occupants of the other apartments from their beds and showering them with pieces of broken glass.

Ellers immediately placed a guard about the home. The last, beretted Ellers and his wife and their maid from their beds. The Ellers escaped unharmed but the negro maid, Annie Semmel, was badly cut and bruised.

JAPANESE HOSTILITY DEFENSE OF DOHENY

"Cleaves Report" Ordered into Court; Trial To Open March 10

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Fear of Japanese hostility real or fancied, on the part of American naval experts and observers, will be the defense of Edward L. Doheny, California oil magnate, when he goes to trial here March 10, on a charge of having bribed former Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall in connection with the Elk Hills naval oil base mandate during the Harding administration. It appeared today. Justice William H. Taft, sitting in the district supreme court, issued an order directing the navy department to produce the "Cleaves report," at the trial.

The report, submitted in 1921 by Admiral Cleaves, is said to contain secret data in regard to the hostility of Japan to the United States. It had remained a diplomatic mystery despite legal attempts to have it introduced as evidence.

Doheny's attorneys, who defended Secretary Fall last year, when he was found guilty of accepting the $100,000 bribe from Doheny, that time introduced the specter of the Japanese fear.

Two separate attempts have been made in the oil trials to bring the Cleaves report into the open. In Secretary Adams declined to bring forth the document last year during the Fall trial.

Church Bells Ring Today On Dry Law Anniversary

Join in Chorus Heralding 10th Year of National Prohibition: County W. C. T. U. Holds Meeting at Girard Av. Home; Local President Issues Statement

Church bells over the city rang out at noon today, celebrating the tenth anniversary of national constitutional prohibition. From 12 until 12:10 o'clock, as the result of arrangements made by the Marion County Ministerial association, the bells added to the "Victory day" celebration here.

The Marion County W. C. T. U. celebrated the day with a county meeting at the home of Mrs. Zoa Davis, Girard av. Ministers of the city and county were invited to meet for the program and luncheon.

Mrs. Mary Jennings, West Center st., county president of the W. C. T. U., prepared a paper on "Moral Vigilance Is the Price of Prohibition."

In her paper, Mrs. Jennings says, "For more than 50 years the W. C. T. U. has been fighting the battle of prohibition."

"It has worked for prohibition of the liquor traffic by cooperating in every method proposed for curtailing its influence and weakening its power."

"In 1912, Lillian N. M. Stevens, then president of the national W. C. T. U., issued a proclamation for universal prohibition in 1920. The proclamation was introduced in congress. For eight years congress was appealed to. On Jan. 16, 1920, national constitutional prohibition went into effect."

"If the W. C. T. U. should become inactive for one year, defeat would face our cause in the struggle. Eternal vigilance is the price of prohibition."

"Ten benefits of 10 years of prohibition are: Two hundred thousand more homes better children; better health; America is happier."

FORMER LOCAL MAN CLAIMED BY DEATH

W. H. Huffman, State Official of U. C. T. U., Passes Away at Tiffin

W. H. Huffman, grand secretary of the United Commercial Travelers of Ohio, died at his home in Tiffin yesterday, according to word received by the local U. C. T. council.

Huffman was a former Marion and Galena man, having been associated in the automobile business here with Zebadiah Stott. Since leaving Marion, Mr. Huffman has been here on several occasions in the interest of Marion Council No. 123, United Commercial Travelers.

Several members of the local council will attend the funeral services which will be held in Tiffin Saturday afternoon.

MASONS FROM HERE TO CONFER DEGREE

Marion Chapter Members To Be Upper Sandusky Guests Feb. 3

A GLORIFIED CLEAR SKIN

A clear, smooth, lovely skin enhances personal attractiveness! More happiness and friends may depend upon it.

The way to the skin is through the blood. Rich, red, healthy blood purifies the body and skin, protecting it against infection and disease.

When you take S.S.S. to get rid of outside blemishes you are building up the system to ward off graver diseases.

If you are one of the embarrassed—and men are not exceptions—with skin blemishes that linger, and sometimes leave scars, you will want to possess body power to clear up your skin.

S.S.S. will help Nature give you this power. Internal healthfulness will then reflect in your skin a natural loveliness—a skin glorified.

Millions of people have taken advantage of the wonderful medicinal properties in S.S.S. It gives to Nature what it needs to build you up so that your system may throw off the cause.

When your system is filled with rich, red blood, the body's power of resistance to infection and disease is raised. Your appetite should improve. Firm flesh should take the place of that which was once flabby. You should sleep soundly. You should feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

Take S.S.S. daily at mealtimes. It promotes healthy body building. Seek energy, vitality and a clear skin through the great blood tonic which is made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test for over 100 years.

All good drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

A Clear Skin Comes From Within

What I know about nice women

LISTEN to a doctor whose practice includes hundreds of the better class. "It is simply unbelievable," he says, "how many women—supposedly nice, fastidious women—are suffering from halitosis and utterly ignorant of the fact. No wonder their husbands hesitate to kiss them, or that women friends avoid them."

Don't fool yourself

Be the first to suspect yourself of having halitosis (bad breath). So many everyday conditions cause it that it is folly for any one to assume complete freedom from it. Defective teeth for example.

Fermenting food particles. Pyorrhea. Germ infections of the mouth. Keep yourself on the popular side by gargling with full strength Listerine morning and night, and before meeting others. Listerine instantly ends halitosis.

Destroys odors—kills germs

Being a safe germicide so active it kills even Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid), germs in 15 seconds, it naturally combats germ conditions which cause odors. Then, being a powerful deodorant, it destroys the odors themselves.

Keep Cool, Men
Your face kept cool while shaving and afterward. LISTERINE SHAVING CREAM is a treat for all men.

The Safe Antiseptic

YOU may now put the back-seat driver to sleep—in a trailer attached to your car! One of the most interesting exhibits at the Automobile Show staged at Grand Central Palace, New York City, is a luxurious caravan attached to a sedan car. But what a caravan! It is, with more trick gadgets for comfort and convenience than were ever used in even the most luxurious of caravans.

The trailer is equipped with four berths, running water, electric lights, and special ventilation apparatus. In fact, it has all the comforts of an up-to-date hotel room. This hotel room on wheels is no wider than an ordinary car, yet the berths used are quite snuggly—indeed, of course, there's a trick to it, and it is that the caravan is so designed that it can be opened accordion-fashion to a width which exceeds that of a railway coach. And so now, a land-cruise can be blithely undertaken, and judging by the interest shown in this new device, it wouldn't be at all surprising, if next summer, mostly over, automobile had a little trailer all its own.

It is a far cry from the luxurious car of today to the peculiar looking contraptions that are the granddaddies of the various different types of automobiles of the present. The early Buckards, Oldsmobiles, Buicks and Peccos-Armors, to mention four of the earliest makes of gasoline-driven vehicles, are unmistakably automobiles for all their rather mirth-provoking appearance. But they went, and that was all that was required of a gasoline contraption in those dim dark days when an automobile costume for ladies meant a long "bus" coat, and a hat with zoggles and a thick veil.

Henry Ford often refers to his first car, which made successful trial runs in 1893. It was driven by a twin cylinder, four cycle water cooled engine, and it made from 27 to 30 miles an hour. The first of the crop of old-fashioned Fords was manufactured in 1903. Since then, of course, the Ford

AVOID THAT FUTURE SHADOW*

By refraining from over-indulgence

You men who would keep trim and fit... you women who covet the tantalizing curves of the truly modern figure—when tempted to do yourself too well, light a Lucky instead. Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Eat healthfully but not immoderately. When your eyes are bigger than your stomach, light a Lucky instead. Coming events cast their shadows before. Avoid that future shadow by avoiding over-indulgence if you would maintain that lithe, youthful figure.

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Everyone knows that heat purifies and so "TOASTING" not only removes impurities but adds to the flavor and improves the taste:

"IT'S TOASTED"

*Be Moderate! : Don't jeopardize the modern form by drastic diets, harmful reducing girdles, fake reducing tablets or other quack "anti-fat" remedies condemned by the Medical profession! Millions of dollars each year are wasted on these ridiculous and dangerous nostrums. Be Sensible! Be Moderate! We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky" instead, you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

Near East Relief Caring for Armenian Children; Last of Wards Are Given Jobs After Thorough Education

MOSCOW, Jan. 16—Eighteen hours off the beaten tourist path through the Caucasus, on a mountainous plateau, baking in the blistering sun by day and freezing at night, a little group of Americans is helping in the rehabilitation of the Armenian race which not more than a few decades ago faced extermination at the hands of Moslem Turks.

During the last 10 years the Near East Relief, with headquarters for Soviet Armenia in Leningrad, has cared for 22,000 children, orphaned by war, massacre and migration, and finally this fall placed the last of them in good homes or jobs.

But the work of this American relief is not finished. It will be continued in the form of a modern agricultural school for boys and girls chosen from the poorest Armenian families.

Military Post

Leningrad, formerly Alexandropol, the strongest military post in the Caucasus under the Czar, looks both Oriental color and charm and Occidental enterprise. It is a flat, uninteresting overgrown village of one storied stone buildings, rebuilt after the disaster of the earthquake of 1908, to withstand any repetition of that disaster, with dusty treeless streets, shabby shops and shabby people.

On the edge of the city are the huge stone barracks of the Czarist army which were placed at the disposal of the Near East Relief by the Soviet government to house the orphans. Most of the barracks have been returned to the government which is building up a strong Red army post here, close to the Turkish border.

It was a tremendous job to care for these thousands of children, build them up physically, train them to become self supporting, and find places for them. Many of the orphans have been taken from the Near East Relief schools into government technical schools to be trained as engineers on government farms. Still others have been placed as farm laborers or in factories.

Bonus To Government

After all that was done to train the youngsters, the government requested and received a bonus of 100 rubles (50 dollars gold) for giving each orphan a job. In addition, a complete outfit of clothing—American materials and American shoes—bedding, and in many cases a year's supply of American canned foods, has been given each child when it left the Near East's care.

Driving from Leningrad to Grigyan, over the beautiful Dittion pass, along the shore of Lake Seven, over a thousand feet high in the mountains, in one of the Near East Relief's cars, we were hailed in every village through which we passed, "The Americans are coming!" Sometimes it was the village school teacher who recognized us, or the workers on the cooperative farms who had been "American orphans," or perhaps a young mother rocking her baby in an old fashioned wooden cradle before the door of the only frame house with windows in the whole village.

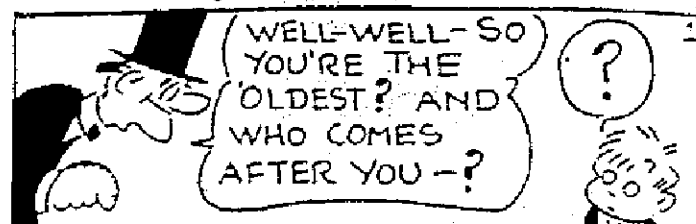

"We have no trouble with labor discipline," the director of the new modern textile factory in Leningrad told us when he showed us his plant. "Ours is the finest group of workers of any factory in Russia."

The answer is that they are American trained. At least 80 per cent of them are "Near East orphans." American money and American social workers, rescued these children from the fate of hundreds of thousands of homeless children who have been a menace and problem to the Soviet Union, and turned them into well trained, well disciplined workers.

The new textile factory is built for the future, equipped with the most modern imported machinery, the workers housed in new model apartments, with a splendid nursery for their children. It is using imported

New Organization To Aid Army Reserve Work Here

J. W. Llewellyn Named Chairman of School Program for District; Action Taken at Meeting Held Last Night; Two Regular Army Men Speak

At the suggestion of Capt. E. M. Taylor, reserve officer of the Marion district, a new organization was formed last night to assist in the work of the regular army instructors with the local reserve group. J. W. Llewellyn was elected chairman of the organization for this year and surrounding counties.

The monthly reserve officers' meeting last night at the Marion club was presided over by a G. O. C. officer. The regular army officers attending the meeting were Capt. E. M. Taylor and his adjutant, Maj. H. S. Arrand, ordnance officer of the fifth corps area, and Capt. E. C. Bonner, assistant ordnance and ordnance officer.

Eighteen officers were present, representing reserve officers, National guard and regular army officers. They were present from Marion, Mr. Gilman, Columbus and Chicago.

Illustrated talk on "Army Tanks" was given by officers who have been in the tank series. He spoke of the tanks used in 1917-18 and the experimental tanks that have been designed and manufactured since that time. A great many of the new designs have not been successful and have been put to a government museum.

A talk on automobile units that do not carry weapons was given by Major Arrand.

The next school in Marion will be held Feb. 12 at the Marion club.

The reserve officers' meeting is held these meetings are held to receive no salary and spend their own time and money for the commission of the county. Citizens interested in the school are privileged to attend.

Those present last night, in addition to the regular army officers were:

Capt. E. V. Ault, Mr. Gilman; Lt. Floyd G. Brown, Marion; Lt. Arthur E. Amick, Marion; Lt. Charles L. Hall, Chicago; Lt. Shantz, Columbus; Capt. E. H. Stambach, Marion; Lt. H. S. Taylor, Marion; Lt. Glen M. Perry, Marion; Lt. Roy W. Gottschall, Marion; Maj. J. C.

To Eliminate Static by Arkansas Invention

ARKANSAS CITY — A device which its creator believes will be a big step toward the elimination of static and electrical interference, the radio bugs greatest enemies, has been completed by Rube S. Barnett of this city.

Tested on several different stations with a standard make radio set, the new eliminator is said to have caused a marked decrease in static interference, and resulted in more pleasing tone.

The device is based on chemical rather than magnetic properties, and is attached to the outside of the house between the aerial and the receiving apparatus.

CHECKUP REVEALS INCREASE AT O.S.U.

9,859 Pay Fees for Winter Quarter; Arts and Science Departments Lead

COLUMBUS, Jan. 14 — Nine thousand eight hundred and fifty-nine students have paid fees for the winter quarter at Ohio State university, a checkup revealed today. This is an increase of 220 over the corresponding period last year. The winter quarter has been in session for only a week and late registration has boosted the number of fees paid.

The college of Arts and Science leads with 1984 students, according to present figures. The college of Commerce and Administration is second with 1584, the college of Education third with 1307, and the college of Agriculture fourth with 1185. Others line up as follows:

Agriculture, 507; Graduate School, 723; Medicine, 207; Law, 274; Pharmacy, 158; Veterinary Medicine, 116; Arts-Education, 88; Applied Sciences, 29.

But tossing temperatures never daunt New SOHIO MOTOR OIL

It's tougher . . more flexible . . free from harmful wax

ASK any of the thousands who have used New Sohio this winter. They know there's never been a motor oil quite like it. They've put it to the severest test of all—actual winter service in Ohio—and New Sohio has come through gloriously!

Stone-cold motors "spit" merrily at the touch of the starter, even on zero mornings—warm up smoothly with scarcely a pull on the choke—hum sweetly on long, hot, high-speed runs when New Sohio is in the crankcase. Cold doesn't make it sluggish. Heat doesn't thin it dangerously. Sharp shifts in temperature disturb it not at all.

To make such an oil, a totally new refining process is utilized. New Sohio is a 100% paraffin base oil, freed from harmful wax at 50° below zero—an achievement never before thought possible. The result is an oilier oil—more flexible—longer lasting—the ideal motor oil for Ohio.

Expect These Results With New Sohio Motor Oil In Your Crankcase:

Easier starting—less drain on battery.
Less need for slow warming up.
Full, smooth power—unfailing piston seal.
Reduced carbon formation.
Less wear on moving parts.

Live to the Sohios every Tuesday Evening at 7:30 P. M. . . WTAM

NEW BOTTLE DEVICE INSTALLED AT DAIRY

Automatic Washer of Latest Type Now in Use at Isaly Plant

One of the most modern pieces of automatic dairy equipment has been recently installed at the Isaly Dairy Co. plant, North Prospect st. It is a milk bottle washer, which was installed at an expense of several thousands of dollars.

With almost human ingenuity, the washer receives into its cap the dirty bottles, thoroughly washes, scales and sterilizes them, and returns them in 15 minutes to a conveyor belt, somewhat similar to an endless chain process. The bottles are carried around on this conveyor to an automatic device which fills the bottles without assistance of humans. The bottles are also automatically capped.

No hand touches the bottle after it is placed in the washer until it comes off the end of the line, filled, capped, and ready for delivery. Likewise, no human hand touches the milk in the dairy after it is placed in pasteurizers, all operations being automatic.

The bottle washer automatically puts each bottle through eight different cleaning processes. First it is washed, then the bottle is washed, then another at 140 degrees, and another at 180 degrees. The bottles are then sprayed inside and out with chlorinated water, made at the washer by bubbling chlorine gas through water and imparting to the water its germ-killing qualities. The bottles are again washed and cooled and returned to the conveyor which leads to the bottling and capping machine.

The washer has a capacity of 700 bottles.

COUNTY FAIR HEADS AT STATE MEETING

Four from Local Organization Attend Today's Session in Columbus

The Marion County Agricultural Society will be represented by four officials among the 1,200 expected to attend the annual meeting of the Ohio Fair Managers' Association today in the Desider Wallich hotel in Columbus.

Those attending from this county are: A. L. D. Brady, Meeker, member of executive board; George Raulo, LaRue, vice president; Harrison Kramer, of near Columbus, treasurer; and Carl Padgett, Superior st., secretary.

Although the meeting will continue over Friday, the local representatives will return tonight after attending all of today's and tonight's sessions.

A full board meeting of the Marion County Agricultural Society at the office of Dr. N. Strain, county health commissioner, in the court house, has been called for next Saturday by Secretary Strain. Revision of the premium list and consideration of plans to award educational trips to boys who compete in the county fair are among the things to be considered at this meeting.

Guilty Simply of Acidity!

That persistent feeling of tiredness—that clouded mind—that lack of dash and fire—that missing punch—that decides so many situations in business—are all usually due to an acid system. Excess acid, formed in the stomach as a result of our un-natural eating habits, causes acid indigestion with gas, sourness and burning and sets up poisonous putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal that saps our strength and vitality, taxes our nerves and pulls us down physically and mentally.

Magnesia Oxidized, developed in Germany by a famous 100-year-old pharmaceutical house, corrects acidity in the right way! Upon contact with the acid in the stomach, Magnesia Oxidized liberates nascent, or active, oxygen. The "live" oxygen stimulates the alkaline gastric juices, checks putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal and stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls which aids the normal movement of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to the true correction of acidity.

5-Day Acidic Test

To ascertain just how "acid" you are, make this test. Get a package of Magnesia Oxidized from Bradley's Drug Store or any other good druggist. Take two after each meal for five days and see how much better you feel—how much more energy you have. If you don't get more than amazing results, return the balance of the Oxidized to the druggist and he will refund the purchase price promptly and in full. A. S. General —Adv.

Science Triumphs Over Nature.

A day or two since at Lunenburg, diagonally across the St. Lawrence river from Quebec, science scored a triumph over the forces of nature by releasing the Italian freighter, Concordia, from the Champlain drydock in which she was frozen and faced the prospect of being so held until the breaking up of the ice in the spring.

The Concordia went into the drydock for some necessary repairs and was caught by the ice before the repairs could be completed.
Several attempts to release her having failed, Dr. Howard T. Burns, of McGill university, got together a high pressure pump and a hose, by the use of which he sprayed the thick ice about the dock with a chemical compound the nature of which was not divulged. Within three minutes the ice began to crack and inside five it splintered with a thunderous noise, permitting the freighter to float free.
The Quebec wire reporting the release states that the ice was broken into such small particles that even small boats could be navigated about the dock and its approaches.

Experiments, it is stated, had previously been made with the compound to break up mid-river ice and melt snow on sidewalks, and proved for more satisfactory that the salt compound which recently came into use, but this was the first time it had ever been utilized to break the thick ice which forms in harbors.

Shipping men who watched the releasing of the Concordia expressed the almost enthusiasm over the speed with which the compound worked, seeing in it a means of quick relief from the ice which accumulates on vessels in northern waters in the winter season and proves a menace to their successful navigation. If it will do this it will prove a blessing to those who sail the seas.

Air Mail Carriage Pay Plan Unjust

It is an uncontroverted fact that we here in the United States have the fastest air mail service in the world, but in the light of the inequities in payments to carriers disclosed by Postmaster General Brown in his address before the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce these may be said to be unquestionable grounds for speculation regarding how long we may be able to keep it such.

Under the law in force compensation for transporting the air mail is fixed on a poundage basis without regard to the distance carried, with a provision that the price shall not exceed three dollars a pound. The postmaster general told the Cleveland chamber chamber that he would ask congress to amend the law so that the postoffice department would have authority to contract with private aircraft concerns to carry mail at a fixed rate for the mile, the rate in no case to exceed a dollar a mile for 1,500 pounds of mail carrying capacity.

Under the present law some of the contractors have prospered while others have fared very poorly, the different results depending on the volume of mail carried, and the distances over which and the conditions under which the mail was transported. To give an idea of the rate inequalities at present, the postmaster general cited a number of rates. The rate from Boston to New York is three dollars a pound; the New York-Chicago rate is eighty-six cents; the Chicago-Salt Lake City, $1.05; the Salt Lake City-Los Angeles, three dollars; the Atlanta-Chicago, seventy-eight cents, and the Cleveland-to-Pittsburgh rate, three dollars.

Any payment plan which will result in such inequalities as are possible under the present system is manifestly unworkable.
"Such a system," the postmaster general told his Cleveland audience, "compels the contractor to gamble on the volume of mail he will carry and creates an inducement for him to swell his volume by unethical practices. He is obliged to make his flight whether the postoffice department furnishes him one pound or a thousand pounds of mail and he should, therefore, be paid a just compensation for his readiness to serve, as well as for his service performed."

Under the plan the postmaster general proposes, in the event that congress will meet his recommendation, a schedule of compensation providing for the payment of approximately thirty cents a mile for a weight space of 100 pounds will be set up with increased compensation per mile for increasing weight until the maximum of a dollar a pound for 1,500 pounds of weight space is reached. In addition to this there would be reasonable extra compensation for mail carried over mountains as well as similar compensation for transportation over territory frequently covered by fog.

From the postmaster general's showing it is manifest that the present plan is unjust in the extreme, and certainly neither congress nor the public should want any plan which has been demonstrated unjust to be continued. Transportation of the air mails should bring a reasonable profit. Certainly it should not occasion loss to those engaged in it. The carriers who suffer loss as a result of their contracts will refuse to renew them, which will cause more or less disorganization of service and preclude the plan of the postoffice to renew all contracts for air mail carriage on a ten-year basis. There will be difficulty in getting another contractor to take up a route for ten years, the contract for which caused a loss to the contractor refusing to renew it.

Every consideration demands the abandonment of the present system for recompens-ing the carriers of our air mail.

A Texas run-runner was shot to death when he began firing at dry enforcement proached them with a truckload of liquor, ture of Boston and the Bay state, is hardly likely to resort to rioting in retaliation.

The present eruption of Mount Pelee threatens to become more severe than that which wiped out St. Pierre in 1902, but the life loss, if any, will be trivial. Not only have the inhabitants fled to distant parts of the island, but many have sailed away to remain until Pelee subsides. The horror of St. Pierre is yet too near to have been forgotten.

Major Maurice Campbell, prohibition administrator for New York City, holds that the speakeasy is responsible for ninety percent of the crime there. Scarcely, the shrewd thing to do would be to close the speakeasies, but a complacent city government calmly looks on them as a sort of a necessary evil without which life would not be worth the living to "the boys."

The coast guards who shot and killed three run-runners on the Black Duck and wounded the fourth member of its crew have been freed from blame by the grand jury in Providence. It's time that an element in this country should learn that the life of a man is not sacrosanct merely because he is a run-runner.

It has developed that Ivan Kreukel, a Russian in Franz Josef Land, early in December, talked for more than an hour with Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, down at the South pole, nearly 15,000 miles away. As the Russian station in which Kreukel is operator is far north of the Arctic circle, the conversation was practically from the top to the bottom of the world. But a few years ago such a thing as this would be put down as the funkest variety of fiction.

Owners, whether alien or native, who fail to register their automobiles with the French military authorities are hereafter to be heavily fined, as private cars are now listed by the military of war as an arm of defense.
In view of the fact that Paris was saved from the enemy during the World war by the commandeering of the taxi cabs of Paris, it's coming to be some job to argue the French military ministry into believing that its classification of cars as military aids is a mistaken one.

LIKELY TO BE ANNOYING.
WET & DRY QUESTION.

Seek Cause of Headache.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

One of the most common causes of headache, high blood pressure and many other ills is auto-intoxication. This term "auto-intoxication" means a self-poisoning by the waste products that are absorbed into the system instead of being properly thrown off by the body.

How unthinking we are when we over-indulge in food, and at the same time, to make matters worse, we do not indulge at all in bodily exercise.
Thousands there are who go on day after day in the same old way and they suffer immeasurably from all sorts of ills.

The places where poisons may develop are legion.
It may be said in general that an accumulation of pus, no matter where, may cause symptoms of poisoning.

The teeth or tonsils may be abscessed. An accumulation of pus in the sinuses, a running ear, a chronic ulcer anywhere may be the seat of the poisons which destroy the health. The intestinal tract is the most likely place for this trouble.

Constipation is often the first warning that the digestive organs are causing a slow poisoning in the system. There may be headache, dizziness, drowsiness and heartburn, pains in the joints, and more or less mental depression.

Auto-intoxication is a very common cause of high blood-pressure and hardening of the arteries.
To get rid of these symptoms you must clear up the center of the trouble in the body, wherever it may be. The abscesses must be drained and healed. The constipation or other trouble must be overcome.

After all, you can not be well if you are constantly bombarded by the poisons of self-intoxication. The body has an almost unlimited capacity to adjust itself to new conditions, and there is an almost unlimited capacity for rebuilding and repairing a badly damaged constitution. You may overcome some of the effects of sins against the body, and can gather new health if you return to a natural way of living. Copyright, 1929, Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Dinner Stories.

"Novelists nowadays," publisher Doran says, "have their radios and motor cars. They spend their winters in Florida or California, and their bank balances mount steadily up.
It was different in the old days. Once a brilliant novelist wrote whimsically to a friend:

"Dear Joe—"With you do me a favor? I am going to hold a meeting of my creditors next Sunday evening in Madison Square garden, and I want you to address the overflow meeting outside."

First Clubman—"If this club doesn't improve soon, I'll leave it." Second Clubman—"Well, now, that is decent of you."

A businesslike man stepped into a butcher's shop.
"A piece of beef for roasting," he ordered briskly.

The meat, mostly bone, was thrown on the scales.
"Look here," remonstrated the man, "you're giving me a big piece of bone."
"Oh, no, I ain't," said the butcher, grumpily.
"You are paying for it!"

"Auntie, kin I have some strawberries?"
"Strawberries are out of season!" He hesitated for a moment and then added:
"Is cookies?"

Scrubber—"Give to the world the best you have and the best will come back to you." Scraper—"Yes, that's the way it's been with every poem I've written so far."

The Word of God.

Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit.—Acts 2:38.

Prayer—O Lord, we glory in Thee who art for us the Way, the Truth, the Life.

Editorial Opinion.

TIGHT-ROPE DANCING IN EUROPE.

World peace, presumably, hangs upon national —perhaps we should say antinational—psychology, and it must be confessed that the London naval conference, which is a grand optimistic attempt to face a great deal of nationalistic disagreement and resentment. If the London conference begins by going into details of the real relations of European nations, it faces heavy difficulties. These difficulties begin with the bad and aggressive situation of matters at The Hague reparations conference, as between the British and French and German demands. Germany demands severe conditions before consenting to full, frank and loyal acceptance of the reparations arrangements already, in appearance, agreed upon. There must be no "sanctions" based on the treaty of Versailles.
It characterizes default on German payments; and Mr. Snowden, British sharp-tongued finance adviser, says "Take it or leave it, or else go back to the League plan." M. Tardieu, representing France, is equally unwilling to yield to the new German demand. At the same time, looking toward the London conference, M. Tardieu announces plainly the absolute impossibility of French consent to the Italian demand for naval parity with France. Here are two live lines in the path of a European entente. How are such questions to be passed by at London?

Difficulties there are, to be sure, but in spite of them, and very likely to be reckoned upon as an influence toward their overcoming or their glazing over, is a real disposition on the part of the governing bodies of Europe toward postulating at least a lasting truce. Mr. Tardieu confirms amicably with the German representatives at The Hague and Mr. Snowden is aggressive.
Premier MacDonald and Foreign Minister Headlam are resolutely conciliatory.

All who are about to meet at London seem to have an earnest wish and will toward some form of limitation. The ruling spirits of that conference, under the impact of the influence of the American delegation, seem likely to be governed by that sort of faith in peace which is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. Such faith is not to be scorned. The diplomats, of course, have their proverb which says that unsettled questions have no mercy for the peace of nations—and it looks as if the London conference, to agree, must have certain con-troverted points unsettled. But was never agreement, until there is a will and a wish for peace. Many a quarrel, national as well as personal, has been settled just by ignoring it. London will do well to build on the disposition to peace.

Given a general will to peace, and given also the magic of the presence and the minds of such men as Stimson, Dawes, Morrow and MacDonald, and we may hope for abiding accommodation at London.—Boston Transcript.

GREAT BRITAIN'S CRUISERS.

The announcement by the British admiralty that its irreducible minimum of seventy cruisers has been reduced to fifty augurs well for the success of the London conference. At least it provides a definite starting point for discussing the cruiser situation, as Secretary Hughes provided the Washington conference with one respecting capital ships. All will depend on the type of cruisers Great Britain will build within this numerical limitation; but if it confines its needs to fifteen "troop" cruisers and thirty-five smaller craft, as has been hinted it will, a very material reduction in cruiser tonnage may be brought about.

The announcement holds out other hopes than that the approaching conference will bear concrete fruit. At the Geneva party, said the first lead of the admiralty. Great Britain was forced by the world situation then existing to demand a minimum of seventy cruisers. An entirely new complexion has been put on that standard by the so-called pact of Paris, which Secretary Hughes consummated. Were it not for the existence of this world-wide agreement respecting war as an instrument of national policy, Great Britain, we take it, would still feel under the necessity of maintaining as many cruisers as seemed necessary three years ago. The apparent willingness of Great Britain to scrap or lower tonnage of the strength of this agreement therefore gives hope that in the course of time other steps will be taken to replace the security of armaments.

Americans, who lament the absorption of their country from Old world expedients, will then be able to rejoice in that same country was so largely instrumental in closing the whole world the key to the amiable settlement of international disputes.—Detroit Free Press.

Majorca.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

In all Latin countries, the people make much over their festivals and gala days. But in Majorca, they take these celebrations to the height of a new art. Majorca, you remember, has from our first visit, in the days of the Habsburgs, the Mediterranean possession of Spain.

As illustrating the way in which the Majorcans consider their holidays, is the fact that among the islanders there is a saint's day for every day in the year. In the past, so many of these were observed that it seriously interfered with the business of the island, but now only those on the church calendar are celebrated.

Of course, in the metropolises of the island, Palma, the festivals are not celebrated with the simple native which one finds in the smaller towns, such as Pollensa. Pollensa is a typical sleepy little Majorcan town. And just now they are celebrating the fiesta of San Antonio. The young men of the town go out on the neighboring mountainsides and select the tallest, straightest tree they can find. They then drag back to town where they skin it and give it a thorough coating of grease. Then they tie a cloth to the upper end and set the tree up by the side portal of the parochial church. One by one the young men of the town try to climb the tree and rescue the fatty crawling cock from his unaccustomed perch.

It is a strange celebration. Its origin I don't know. But I do know that it affords these simple people enjoyment enough to last a week.

On St. Antonio's day proper, the people bring their wicker chairs to the door of the church to be blessed.
Corpus Christi week is one of the main celebrations in Majorca. This comes in June and date back to the thirteenth century. Its origin is a religious drama, or pageant, is clearly seen in the numerous processions with their allegorical characters. The main procession is headed by a group of little boys dressed as angels. Then comes a man dressed in the garb of a shepherd and carrying in one arm a live lamb while in the other hand he carries a small cross. It would appear that this masked figure is intended to be John, the Baptist.

Immediately following the man are two girls, fantastically dressed, who follow the man in his dancing from one side of the street to the other. There are other processions with children playing an important part. All these pageants are poetic in the extreme.

But not alone on church holidays do the Majorcans give vent to this holiday merry-making spirit. Another occasion is the Annual fair which is given in every town. Then the bachelors and the vendors come out in all their festive array.

It is a pleasant relief to find a place where haggling and hickering over price is not the custom. It is so in Majorca. Everything offered at the fair has its set price and both the buyers and sellers recognize the fact. To bargain is considered extremely poor taste.

The weekly market—held on Sunday—is a smaller model of the annual fair. The peasants bring their produce and home-made goods to the market square where they set up their benches and tables and await the natives who turn out en masse to fill their food and raiment needs for another week. Sometimes the peasant may have to come from some distance. In that event he will start on Saturday and arrive in town by nightfall. He unloads his donkeys and dumps his stuff in the square and ambles away to his quarters for the night, utterly unmolested, for the Major-can, above all else, is honest, and the peasant's goods, there in the public square, are as safe as they would be under lock and key.

New York Day by Day.

There are thousands so hypnotized by Gotham glitter. They prefer to let proverbial lampposts on Broadway than go to any other city and be somewhat important. They are reminded of drunk fighters refusing to take the count.

Nowhere do people take so many dips the chin—and smile. New York, no man bromide of super optimism: "Something ture of the future without a son in his pocket.

It is from such delirious chatter, Broadway

SCOTLAND YARD GOES OUT AFTER ITS MAN

BY ANTHONY ARMSTRONG

CHAPTER 8

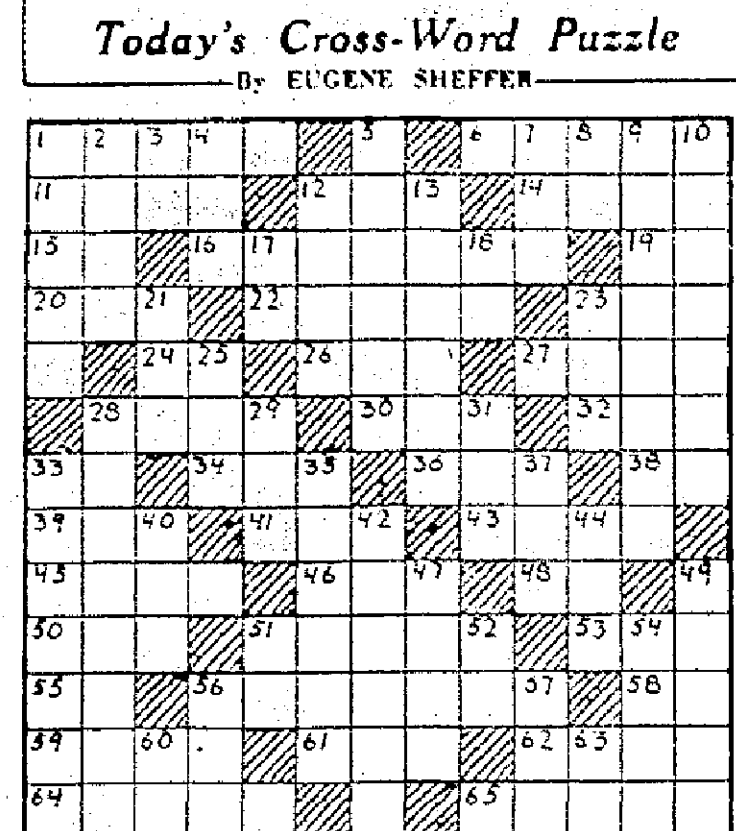

It was cold in their cups but Jimmie had insisted on the Scotchman's drink. He was fed up with the one thing that he wanted in this world—being able to get it. He was fed up with the one thing that he wanted in this world—being able to get it. He was fed up with the one thing that he wanted in this world—being able to get it.

The Restaurant Window

Night had fallen when Jimmie was sitting at the table in the restaurant. He was looking out the window at the dark street. He was looking out the window at the dark street. He was looking out the window at the dark street.

Prepared Instructions

Jimmie had long ago realized that his sole chance of success depended on the gang of spies keeping to their plans and so securing for him the advantage of the information he held. He was looking out the window at the dark street. He was looking out the window at the dark street. He was looking out the window at the dark street.

Love's Reawakening

The Story of a Wife's Triumph Over Jealousy

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Decides on an Early Morning Exploration of the Cellar

MY subconscious must have rebelled at my decision not to worry longer over the past conflicting duties—pleasant and otherwise—which I had planned for the morning. At any rate, it made my night's sleep an uneasy nightmare in which Junior and Robert had been away at each other with revolvers in a roped-off arena in the basement, while William and Henry dined in the parlor on the outside. Dicky and Harry Underwood were present as witnesses, and my mother-in-law's voice continually warned: "It's all your fault, for thinking of such a crazy scheme."

"You can put it up," I said weakly to Dicky, indicating his service revolver. "I am the murderer who frightened Katie. I went down in the basement early that I might make these plans. I spoke of last night when Katie came into the kitchen. I heard the moving door there, and I did not know what it was. I was alone and alone."

I decided to make a dash for it, and I took a flashlight and paper and pencil, made my way cautiously to the basement. There was no light in the unlighted space, but there were plenty of connections in the lighted room adjoining, and I was making in a work closet I found Jim's trouble light, which he uses when anything goes wrong with an electrical connection. This I connected and brought into the vacant room. Then I sat down upon an upturned box and gave myself up to that most fascinating of occupations, planning the firing up of a room.

I had helped my father plan the lighted room, and had been in the farmhouse while it was in process of construction, so I knew what materials had been used. Armed with this knowledge, I drew plans and figured and made lists, destroying the first ones, and altering the others, until finally I could see the completed room just as I wished it.

Children say "great"

You can eat Shredded Wheat Biscuit right out of the package with milk or cream—but it tastes better if you crisp the biscuits in the oven and pour hot milk over them. The flavory shreds of baked wheat are so crisp and delicious—children always ask for more and it is so good for them. Contains everything their growing bodies need. Delicious with fruits.

Motherhood

Complete relaxation and comfort is very important to the mother's well-being. Nervousness, excitement, and physical strain are all factors that tend to weaken the mother's strength.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

I GUESS my uncle is gone for good. I said that to my mother when I had let Jubilee down and had done all my work and milked the cows and strained the milk and fed my face, and she said, "I'm right." Then she said she wished someone would show my aunt a shotgun or something, and then she said my aunt had never seen one before. Then my grandfather came out into the kitchen, chewing tobacco and took the lid off the stove and tried to put the fire out for my mother, and she just rolled her eyes up and he turned around and went back in the other room with his head down and his hands behind his back. Then we noticed that Annabelle Lee was right behind him, eye-catching him, and she looked so funny that we both laughed. My grandfather turned around and asked us what was funny and I said a fat man trying to be a confectioner was funny, and my mother laughed harder than ever, and he just grunted and went in the other room.
